Imperial

Office furniture

foreword

Imperial have always been renowned for the impeccable quality of their office furniture, both in choice of materials and superior, solid construction which is a prerequisite for this contract furniture range launched late in 1999. This popular range consists of a cantilever desking system, panel ended desking, luxurious boardroom furniture and an array of multi purpose utility units. A range clearly designed to offer you a flexible, multifunctional choice for any business practice.

The Sirius Range

A highly popular cantilever desking system that is both durable and hard-wearing for the busy office environment. Various pedestal and storage options compliment the range. Recently revised, we now offer a stunning silver trim and silver leg frame as well as a greater choice of board finishes, giving a more sophisticated appearance whilst still maintaining that competitive edge.

The Odyssey Range

Odyssey offers a more formal and traditional look with smooth flowing curves that are both practical and aesthetically pleasing. It's a solid panel-end desking system with a plinth detail that significantly adds to the overall quality and finish. An assortment of pedestals and storage units completes this range.

The Boardroom Range

A complete range of boardroom table tops - from simple circular or rectangular, to impressive boat shaped or D-end options. Various Base frame styles include Steel I-frame, panel ended or the popular Star & Arrow configurations. Flexibility is the key - with a comprehensive range of sizes, and a large choice of storage units, you'll create an impressive environment in which to conduct your meetings or entertain guests.

Multi Purpose Range

Simplicity and sturdiness are the key factors in our multipurpose range of tables, featuring a continuous steel frame construction for both rectangular and trapezoidal options. Linked together, the permutations are endless and will accommodate any meeting or conference situation. A large choice of pedestals and storage units will compliment & cater for your multi-functional requirements of today's business practices.
